Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 43-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brown et al. '358 (to Donald Brown).

Brown et al. shows a box 10 having an interior space 242, 244; score lines 110 forming an aperture; recess 240, 241, 243, 245 that runs the entire width of the box; bag 246, 248; open end seen in Figure 13; and plate 112 that extends over the recess. Brown et al. lacks the soap and the battery. As soap (in the form of shampoo) is a hair care product, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide soap in the bag provided by Brown et al. in order to be able to clean the hair before treatment. Further, as the recess is a storage area, placing batteries in the storage area would have been obvious as numerous hair treatment devices operate on batteries.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gusic, Durst et al., Light, Powell, Croley, and Marquardt show other bag-in-box dispensing devices and Brown et al. '506 was checked for double patenting.
